Environmental context:

Forest type and history of management

- Principal commercial species

The current vegetation in Rejang, Woodley, and Pasin divisions are predominantly logged-over remnant hill Mixed Dipterocarp Forest (MDF), with small margins of virgin forest in Pasin Division along the Sarawak / Indonesia border. The remnant vegetation varies in structure and species composition depending on terrain conditions and the intensity of previous timber harvesting. Also, in the Pasin Division, there are large areas of shifting agriculture in the northern part and isolated kerangas in the south.

- Specific biological values (e.g. rare or endangered species)

The EIA identified several protected mammals, including the orang utan, generally located adjacent to the Lanjak Entimau Wildlife Sanctuary and the Indonesian border. Other protected mammals are the Bornean gibbon, Hose's langur, maroon langur, clouded leopard, western tarsier, slow loris and giant squirrel. Protected avian species are six species of hornbills, Argus pheasant and Bulwer's pheasant.

- Environmental services (e.g. critical watersheds, wildlife corridor, etc.) provided by the forest

The Woodley Division is drained by Sg. Lajan Besat to the north, Sg. Sebatu to the west and Sg. Lanang to the south. The east of Woodley Division drains into Sg. Mukoh and Sg. Tekalit and eventually to Sg. Katibas. Streams in the east of Rejang Division drain into Sg. Matalau. In the western region, streams flowing northwards drain into Sg. Matalau while those flowing southwards drain into Sg. Laup and Sg. Nging.

- Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA)

EIA titled "Environmental Impact Assessment for Tree Planting under Licence for Planted Forests No. LPF/0010 in the Sibul and Kapit Divisions, Sarawak" was conducted by registered environmental consultant firm, Plantacia Sdn. Bhd. and approved by the Natural Resources and Environment Board (NREB) on 10 December 1999 (Ref. #: (8) NREB/6-11/64).

Social context

Social Assessment:

In June 2012, Ta Ann Plywood engaged Ecosol Consultancy Sdn. Bhd. to conduct a separate Social Impact Assessment (SIA), covering the Tree Plantation Areas in Woodley, Pasin and Rejang Divisions, including an evaluation of settlements. As the result, there were 63 villages located within a 3 km radius, and 14 villages outside of the 3 km radius claiming their shifting cultivation areas within LPF No. LPF/0010. However, only 27 villages were visited and surveyed.

Key findings of social assessment:

Identified communities dependent on the FTL / LPF.

Since the LPF No. LPF/0010 was revised on 29th May 2017 to cover an area of 69,316 ha, all the longhouses are no longer located within the licensed area.

All longhouses listed in this report were based on Rejang & Woodley divisions as there were no operations within the Pasin Division. The information recorded in this report is based on documentation and information provided by the Ta Ann Plywood for Rejang & Woodley divisions. Community areas claimed in Rejang Division are identified in Map A and for Woodley Division in Map B.

Longhouses aligned to Rejang and Woodley Divisions of LPF/0010 are listed as follows:

Ta Ann Plywood has a system to establish formal agreements with each longhouse community for compensation for resource use within areas claimed. Agreements are reached through negotiations and discussions as operations progress, i.e., on a coupe-by-coupe basis. Once an agreement has been reached, provisions are laid out in a documented agreement that is read and interpreted to all parties to declare that they have fully understood and agreed to the terms prior to signing. Current payments are based on the volume of extracted timber within the claimed areas after local communities have finalized and resolved any conflicting land claims.

Social Monitoring:

Regular communication and consultation between Ta Ann Plywood and local communities have been demonstrated since the commencement of logging operations. Community claims or issues are recorded, monitored and dealt following the company's Standard Operation Procedures (SOP). Ta Ann Plywood compensates the local communities for damages or losses to areas claimed through signed agreements. Audit interviews with local community identified that, in general, the communities are happy with their relationship with Ta Ann Plywood.

Highlights of Assessment

Boundaries and areas designated for protection, such as buffer zones, were marked with signs and paint as depicted on the maps.

Ta Ann Plywood has a formal schedule for monitoring and patrolling inside the licensed area. Based on the patrolling records, no illegal activities were identified within LPF/0010 from November 2023 to November 2024.

LPI tags and DPR are only required for the extraction of logs from the salvage logging but not for planted timber. Ta Ann Plywood adequately maintained both salvage logging and plantation harvesting related documents on production, royalties and transportation.

Field workers had valid documents and were covered by SOCSO and were equipped with PPE. Ta Ann Plywood provided adequate training to workers. Training records were documented and maintained.

December 2023: Observation 001-2023 – Checklist 2.1.4

The GPS readings for encroachment area were not consistently recorded in the patrolling report.

December 2024: Observation 001-2023 (Addressed)

No illegal activities or encroachments were detected within LPF/0010 from November 2023 to November 2024.

Principle 3:

Ta Ann Plywood demonstrated compliance with the statutory charges, such as royalty & fees and maintained records.

Principle 4:

In June 2012, Ta Ann Plywood engaged Ecosol Consultancy Sdn. Bhd. to conduct a Social Impact Assessment (SIA) covering the Tree Plantation Areas in Woodley, Pasin and Rejang Divisions, which included an evaluation of settlements. There were 63 villages located within a 3 km radius, as well as 14 villages outside of the 3 km radius claiming shifting cultivation areas within LPF No. LPF/0010.

Since the LPF No. LPF/0010 was revised on 29th May 2017 to cover an area of 69,316 ha; all the longhouses were no longer located within the licensed area. However, some longhouses still have claims over lands within the recently revised LPF No. LPF/0010 concession. Ta Ann Plywood maintained the mutual agreement between the longhouses before conducting any harvesting operations within areas claimed by community.

There is no evidence that Ta Ann Plywood has breached the agreement and discriminated against the local community's needs.
